

We are honoring Cox Communications for its strong commitment to be a good neighbor and to make a difference in the community. AccessPoint RI (formerly CranstonArc) rents its administrative office space from Cox. July of 2011 brought significant funding cuts to organizations that provide services for people with developmental disabilities.

When we informed Cox of these funding challenges, they suggested a plan to donate a significant amount to our agency. Their generous support enabled us to remain in our current administrative offices and keep our focus on preserving the quality of our services.

Through our business relationship, Cox has come to support our mission of empowering people of all abilities to live with dignity, respect, equality and choice throughout their lives. Cox Communications demonstrates the willingness to go the extra mile in support of nonprofit organizations and a strong commitment to the community.
